GENERALAPOLOGIZES AFTER MARINE'S ARREST

By Calvin Sims

With a summit meeting of the world's industrial powers opening in Okinawa in just two weeks, the United States was taking no chances that demonstrations against the Marines there would mar the event.

Even though no charges have been filed against a Marine accused of molesting a 14-year-old girl in Okinawa, the top U.S. military official on the Japanese island apologized to its governor.

He bowed. He expressed regret. And he tried, once more, to smooth relations with the people of Okinawa, where fear and concern are widespread over crimes by American soldiers, who have been accused of numerous cases of violence and sexual misconduct over the years.

The official, Lt. Gen. Earl Hailston, visited Okinawa's governor, Keiichi Inamine, to make the formal apology. He was accompanied by the U.S. consul general of Okinawa, Robert Lake.

Hailston is the regional coordinator for U.S. military forces in Okinawa, where two-thirds of the 47,000 American troops stationed in Japan are based.

In his apology, Hailston said, "The relationship of a Marine leader to his subordinate Marines is like the relationship of a father to his children - these Marines are my sons and daughters. That is why it hurts me deeply when any of my Marines appears to fall short of the standard I have set and demand. It hurts me, as it hurts you, my neighbors."

The authorities accused the Marine, 19, of breaking into the girl's home and touching her while she slept. The Marine, stationed at the Futenma Air Station in Ginowan, was arrested on suspicion of trespassing and conducting an indecent act against a minor.

Since the arrest, labor unions, peace activists, women's rights groups and human rights organizations have rallied near U.S. bases and sent angry letters of protest to the prefectural government.

AMTRAK TO OFFER FREE TRIPS TO SETTLE COMPLAINTS

By Matthew L. Wald

Amtrak said that it would offer every dissatisfied customer a free repeat trip, even if the problem was not the railroad's fault. The new program is part of its campaign to build ridership and revenues by reducing the number of disgruntled passengers.

"This grabs people's attention in the marketplace," said George Warrington, president of Amtrak, who added that no other national carrier had offered a similar program. This one is retroactive to July 4.

The company also revealed a new logo, to replace the "pointless arrow," as it is known, that has served for the last 29 years. The company plans to redesign waiting rooms, ticket booths, platform displays and schedules themselves, to match.

To exercise the new guarantee, Amtrak is asking its customers to call their complaints to the attention of any employee. If the employee cannot solve the problem, Amtrak will issue coupons for repeat travel.

IF SOMEONE CLOSE HAS A PROBLEM WITH ALCOHOL OR OTHER DRUGS

What Not To Do

- Don't attempt to punish, threaten, bribe, or preach.
- Don't try to be a martyr. Avoid emotional appeals that may only increase feelings of guilt and the compulsion to drink or use other drugs.
- Don't allow yourself to cover up or make excuses for the alcoholic or drug addict or shield them from the realistic consequences of their behavior.
- Don't take over their responsibilities, leaving them with no sense of importance or dignity.
- Don't hide or dump bottles, throw out drugs, or shelter them from situations where alcohol is present.
- Don't argue with the person when they are impaired or high.
- Don't try to drink along with the problem drinker or take drugs with the drug abuser.
- Above all, don't feel guilty or responsible for another's behavior.

What To Do

- Try to remain calm, unemotional, and factually honest in speaking about their behavior and its day-to-day consequences.
- Let the person with the problem know that you are reading and learning about alcohol and other drug abuse, attending Al-Anon, Nar-Anon, Alateen, and other support groups.
- Discuss the situation with someone you trust – someone from the clergy, a social worker, a counselor, a friend, or some individual who has experienced alcohol or other drug abuse personally or as a family member.
- Establish and maintain a healthy atmosphere in the home, and try to include the alcohol/drug abuser in family life.
- Explain the nature of alcoholism and other drug addiction as an illness to the children in the family.
- Encourage new interests and participate in leisure time activities that the person enjoys. Encourage them to see old friends.
- Be patient and live one day at a time. Alcoholism and other drug addictions generally take a long time to develop, and recovery does not occur overnight. Try to accept setbacks and relapses with calmness and understanding.
- Refuse to ride with anyone who's been drinking heavily or using other drugs.
